TECHNICIAN OF THE YEAR

The BAPO Technician Committee are pleased to announce the launch of the Algeos Technician of the Year award

Do you know a Technician who goes that extra mile?

Someone who makes sure their patient's device is suitable for their activities or has a great understanding of what their patient needs. Maybe it's a Technician who has overcome barriers to allow them to carry out their duties, or Technicians who consistently produce excellent and innovative devices? Well now is your chance to give them something back by nominating them for the Algeos Technician of the Year Award.

The Technician can be nominated by anyone, be it their manager, a clinician, a fellow Technician, or a patient or user. Three winners will share a prize fund of £1000 and each will receive free registration to the technical clinical programme at the Conference on Friday 15 March 2019.

To nominate a Technician of the Year simply tell us in under 300 words why they should win this award.

Send your entry together with a completed Nomination Form (available at www.bapo.com) to the BAPO Secretariat at the address below.

The winners will be presented with their award by Max Sheridan, Commercial Director, Algeos, at the BAPO Conference on 15th March 2019.
