

EXCITING OPPORTUNITY IN SPECIALISED CENTRAL LONDON CLINIC

About us

Foot Factor is a small, specialised orthotics clinic in central London. We offer bespoke orthotic insoles, tailor made with the client present during a 90 minute appointment.

Company description

Foot Factor started 20 years ago and is renowned for its expertise and bespoke orthotics for sports and medical purposes. Our approach, techniques and products are unique and highly regarded both in the UK and abroad.

This is an opportunity to learn new skills, develop your area of special interest and participate in the development of the company with a possible management role for the right candidate.

Job description

Applications are open to orthotists/podiatrists, locums, freelance contractors and orthotics technicians. It is preferable the applicant is MSK specialised with at least 1-2 years' experience and is interested in learning new practical skills to create bespoke orthotics. Excellent manual skills and the ability to work independently are key for this role. A proactive spirit and keen interest in sports is an advantage.

This will suit someone who is prepared to work to high team and clinic standards, keen to join us on our journey to being a world class practice and enthusiastic about learning new practical techniques.

As a clinic we are focussed on MSK and biomechanics, and in particular podiatric sports medicine, seeing a wide range of clients and athletes from weekend warriors to Olympians.

We have excellent links with other professionals, including orthopaedic, rheumatology and sports medicine consultants and specialist physiotherapists and osteopaths. We will support you in maintaining your CPD portfolio, and will provide opportunities to attend courses, training and shadow colleagues in our referral network. You will be taught the skills to create bespoke orthotics with the patient present, working alongside our Technical Director, treating clients independently or as a team.

There is great potential to get involved in the business as Foot Factor grows, to take on a managerial role and be proactively involved in all aspects of business development.

- Learn new skills – craft orthotics using thermomouldable materials and unique techniques
- Oxford Circus – central London W1 location
- 2-4 days per week available, possible full time conditions in 4 day week
- £38K (pro rata) base salary with earning potential up to £50K (pro rata) depending on skills, experience, performance, hours
- Performance bonus or commission scheme
- 28 days holidays pro rata (incl. BH) – additional leave possible at certain periods
- Opportunity to shadow consultants, attend MDT meetings, connect to London healthcare professionals
- Management opportunities as Foot Factor grows
- Marketing/promotion opportunities
- Interested candidates must be based in the UK, preferably London, and have the right to work in the UK

All applications will be carefully considered, BAPO membership preferable with HCPC registration where applicable. Experience in making orthotics is an advantage.
